

First place in voice category

Central Valley Academy of Music's Tiffany Desrosiers has taken first place in the intermediate voice category at the B.C. provincials for performing arts festival in Kamloops, held earlier this month.

DESROSIERS

Annually, the B.C. Association of Performing Arts Festivals

organizes the provincial festival for the top performers of the regional festivals throughout B.C.

Desrosiers, 16, represented the Kiwanis Fraser Valley Region and competed against more than 20 others from throughout B.C.

She began singing lessons at the age of nine and is a student of Barb Lefebvre at the Central Fraser Valley Academy of Music, and has also been involved in the film/TV industry and various forms of dance for the last six years.

At 15, she was seriously considered for a lead role in the Quidam production of Cirque du Soleil, and last summer she was a finalist at the Vancouver PNE Talent Search.

She continues to hone her skills as a singer in classical and contemporary music, and to pursue her lifelong dream as a performer.

Winning voice

Langley's Tiffany Desrosiers, a 16-year-old Langley Fine Arts School student, took first place in the Intermediate Voice category of the B.C. Provincials for Performing Arts Festival in Kamloops, held June 2 to 6. Tiffany represented the Kiwanis Fraser Valley region and competed against more than 20 vocalists from throughout B.C. She is also an accomplished actress and dancer who was a finalist at the Vancouver PNE Talent Search last year.
